

RETRENCHMENT WITH A VENGEANCE

Rio Grande and Utah Fuel People
Are Evidently Preparing for A Long Siege.

SWEEPING ORDERS ARE ISSUED

Changes in Train and Other Service
Will Throw More Than 100
Men Out of Work.

(Special to the "News.")
Scott, Nov. 28.—That the Rio Grande and the Utah Fuel company are preparing for a long siege is demonstrated by the orders that have been issued by Manager Edson of the railroad company and Vice President Krammer of the Fuel corporation. Everywhere along the line orders have been sent out which make hard on the employees, especially now that winter is approaching. Next week on the Sanpete branch the daily train service between Thistle Junction and Marysville will be discontinued and in its stead the residents of Mt. Pleasant, Mant, and other important cities of Sanpete and Sevier counties will have to be content with a service of three times a week each way. This unpleasant order is along the line of general retrenchment.

In addition a number of night and day operators will be laid off on Monday all over the system. Conductors, brakemen, hill crews and engine crews, track men and others are included in the sweeping order so that 100 broad miners who have been drawing good salaries from the railroad company will be out of jobs. If they care to hang around idle there is a chance that they will be taken on again after the trouble has been settled. Nothing definite is forthcoming, however, in this connection. It may be one month or six months, consequently the men are beginning to move. Some already have made arrangements to go to the South. In fact, are going east to work for other railroads, especially those lines which operate through the southern states, where business is brisk at this time of the year.

The trackmen and others are being given jobs as patrols, with the result that the yards and switches are being watched all along the districts in the vicinity of the strike.

AT CASTLE GATE.
At Castle Gate the Fuel company has notified the officials that their services will not be required until the mine is opened again for business. The mine superintendents, bosses and others, however, have been notified that they will be taken care of if they care to take a job as armed guards and patrols. This order is taken to mean that the mine is to stay closed for a considerable time.

BISHOP WHITNEY'S POEM.

Author Will Read His Epic in Brigham Young University.

By invitation under the auspices of the Polytechnic Society of the Brigham Young University, Bishop O. F. Whitney will read his epic poem, "Eliak," before the teachers and students of that institution next week. The first reading will be on Monday evening, the second on Wednesday evening, and the third on Friday evening; it requiring three sessions to present the entire work. Appropriate music will be rendered as prelude and interludes and the general public will have an opportunity to attend.

After this event the author, having read his poem in Salt Lake City, Logan and Provo, will take early steps for its publication, either in the east or in Utah as shall hereafter be determined. The good people of the Garden City are to be congratulated at the prospect of a public reading by Bishop Whitney of his poetic masterpiece while yet in manuscript.

COLD KILLS THE GERM.

Lieut. Perry Says There Are No Bald Heads in the Arctic Region.

The people who come back from Klondike testify to the fact that no native bald heads are there. The evidence is that the cold climate kills the germ that causes the hair to fall out. Lieut. Perry, who went to the Arctic regions, gives the same evidence. Newbro's Herpicide has the same effect as the cold climate. It kills the germ that causes the hair to fall out at the roots, and the hair grows again. Herpicide is the first remedy built upon the principle of destroying the germ that eats the hair off. Its phenomenal sale demonstrates the correctness of the scalp germ theory. Sold by leading druggists. Send for in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. For sale by E. C. M. L. CAPTAIN BURBIDGE FOR POLICE CHIEF.

Mayor-Elect Morris Has Chosen Him to be the Official Head of the Department Over Which He is Now Presiding.

CAPTAIN JOHN B. BURBIDGE.

Beginning with the new year the police department of this city will have an official head. Mayor-elect Morris has decided upon that fact as well as having determined who that head shall be. After carefully considering the applications of a half dozen or more aspirants for the place and listening to the presentation of their claims and qualifications as urged by friends he has arrived at the conclusion to name Capt. John B. Burbidge for the position. The "News" on hearing an intimation to that effect, called upon the incoming mayor and asked him if it was correct and he replied that it was, though he was hardly prepared to have it announced at this time. He stated further that he had had a strong face to face talk with Capt. Burbidge and that they had discussed the affairs of the police department at length and he believed they understood each other thoroughly.

When asked about his policy as to the special enforcement of any of the ordinances of the city, Mayor-elect Morris said he had already announced what his intentions were—that is, that the laws must be enforced as judiciously and thoroughly as was possible in a city of the size and importance of Salt Lake.

Capt. Burbidge has been constant official service in either the sheriff's or police department for the past 15 years and is thoroughly familiar with his duties. In addition thereto he has the respect of the community and is very popular with his fellow-officers. During the greater part of the last administration of Mayor Thompson Capt. Burbidge has been called upon to act in the capacity of chief, owing to the troubles that prevented the naming of an actual head of the department. After Jan. 1, he will be chief in name as well as in fact performed as at the present time.

FEED HER RIGHT.

The Sure Way to Rear a Healthy Girl.

The relation of food to comfort and health impressed an Iowa teacher who says:

"After teaching school for several years I became a victim of indigestion and night after night it was 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning before I would fall asleep completely worn out. Of course I lost strength and brain power and became terribly nervous until I was on the verge of nervous prostration."

"About that time I read an article about Grape-Nuts that convinced me that my trouble was due to indigestion, something I had never thought of before. I got two boxes of Grape-Nuts and began to use them for breakfast and supper with good rich cream. Well, the change was something wonderful and my health came back in bounds."

"Grape-Nuts took the place of non-nourishing food and I am now better in health, brain power, and spirit; sleep well and work longer and harder and never feel nervous or worried. When I have finished my school session I still feel I have lots of reserve force and energy left and when I go to bed at night I get sound and refreshing sleep and get up early, happy as a lark."

"I have had numbers of my scholars try the food and I must tell you about one case. She was a puny nervous little girl and her mother told me she did not eat enough to keep a bird alive. All she wanted was candy and other trash. When I told her mother about Grape-Nuts she followed my advice and its effect upon this child, shown in the awakening energy of the body and mind was simply wonderful. Her school work became entirely satisfactory and she gained in bodily strength. Lost all her nervousness, and soon became a rosy chubby young miss."

NO REAL DANGER AT SUNNYSIDE.

Statement Concerning Fuel Company Confiscating Furniture Was Untrue.

STRIKERS AND FOUL NAMES.

Miners Who Want Work Can Get It With a Guarantee of Protection—Officers' Rights.

Special Correspondence.
Sunnyside, Carbon Co., Utah, Nov. 27.—In the "News" of the 25th, Mr. Edler makes a statement in regard to the Utah Fuel company that is hardly true, from the fact that the company doesn't deal in furniture. The facts are these: The Wasatch Store company has let people have furniture to be paid for on the installment plan. One young man recently married, got $100 worth of household goods; went on strike and had never paid anything to the store for his goods, and the local manager here took them back, feeling that he had a perfect right to do so.

CALLING FOUL NAMES.
Strikers say they are not doing wrong in calling people foul names; and in the case of James Lacey, tried before Justice Hill for disturbing the peace on the 25th, Attorney Abe Crawford had the impudence to advance the idea that to be called a scab and other names was not an offense against the peace of any one, yet he admitted in his argument that it was a name he wouldn't want any one to call him. Defendant admitted having called men as charged in the complaint from the coke ovens up to the depot, but his attorneys, Crawford & Fowler, claimed that the deputy sheriff, A. Smith, had acted illegally, because the county commissioners had not yet confirmed the appointment; yet all these deputies have been appointed and sworn in by Sheriff Williams. Justice Hill decided against them, claiming that the sheriff had a perfect right to do what he has in the present trouble.

COAL MINERS WANTED.
In an interview last night with President Kramer and General Manager H. G. Williams your correspondent was authorized to say that the Utah Fuel Co. intended to work their mines and that Utah people would be given the preference in filling the places now vacant; that they had no desire to import foreign labor, but that the Utah union men were willing to work for them; and if there are any of the above class of men out of work they need not look for Sheriff A. Smith's protection both in their homes and in going to and coming from the mines. Commencing today the crowd of strikers who have assembled at the depot each day to meet the train will not be allowed to do so hereafter. It has become a nuisance to passengers arriving at Sunnyside, and the authorities have determined it must stop.

OFFICERS' RIGHTS.
A brakeman of the Rio Grande Western, whose name is withheld for the present, told Deputy Sheriff A. Smith that he had no right to arrest a man while on the train, and insisted on the deputy leaving the man alone. He will probably hear from the officers of the law on the charge of interfering with an officer while in the discharge of his duty. If he is not prosecuted he will hear from Rio Grande Western officials, and will no doubt learn his duty more fully. The guard is divided into three camps, and they are a great help to the camp, and will be in the near future. These who have been sent here have really the best camp, as it is not too cold; the weather is fine. They can get condensed steam water to drink and wash with. The cooks are turning out good food, and there is no sickness, only that longing for home.

NO DANGER APPARENT.
At present there is not much danger to be seen on the surface. Anyone going around late at night is called to halt, and state his business, as there has been too much night work going on in the past, as previously stated in the "News."

Men who want to work feel encouraged by the presence of the guard, and the output is increasing a little each day.

It would assist the postmaster if friends of the guard would address their letters with their company initials.

COMMONWEALTH ARRIVES.

A telegram received at the President's office from the Dominion Steamship line announces the arrival at Queenstown at 1 a. m. Friday of the steamer Commonwealth. Aboard this vessel were the following: Willard O. Creer, Spanish Fork; Milton Jones, Murray; David H. Packard, Springville; Albert F. Richens, Grouse Creek; Henry Dankers, Ogden; Warren McCarty, Raymond, Canada, and other Utah passengers.

MINERS' HOSPITAL.

Movement Started to Establish One at Park City.

The miners' union of Park City has taken hold of the project of establishing a miners' hospital at that place with some assurance of success. Senator Kearns has announced that he would be glad to meet with the representatives of the union on Dec. 15 to discuss the matter, and the Daily West has arranged to take it up Dec. 5. With the two leading companies of the district interested in the hospital's materialization, in conjunction with the union, this much needed institution should soon be a reality.

Willard Gilbert Smith was born at Amhurst, Ohio, May 9, 1827, the son of Warren and Amanda Barnes Smith. His parents joined the Church in 1831, and moved to Kirtland the following year. Willard was baptized by Simon Carter and confirmed by Daniel McArthur, Sr., on his eight birthday. He began his career of religious activity when a child by carrying water for the workmen on the Kirtland Temple. In 1838 he went to Missouri, where his father intended to establish a residence. They were driven out, however, by mob force, and on account of some accident, they were detained a day or two after the "Mormon camp" had moved out. They set out, therefore, with about 15 other families, a few miles behind the main company, under the leadership of Jos. W. Young. Oct. 25 the little company was stopped by a mob and relieved of their firearms, then permitted to go on. The next day they reached Haun's Mill and remained there all night. The following day a mob of about 240 armed men suddenly appeared and surrounded the company. A blacksmith shop stood near the mill and when the mob opened fire, most of the men sought refuge therein, while some made their escape in the mountains and fields. Brother Smith made three attempts to enter the shop, but each time he approached the door some obstacle prevented his entrance. His father and two brothers, Sardius and Alma, were about 150 yards away, and in getting in, but Willard was compelled to seek other quarters. He hid himself between two piles of lumber near the shop, but when a dozen or more bullets splintered boards on both sides of him simultaneously, he abandoned the place, making his way to a small frame house which he entered. Being then only eleven years of age, it seemed to him that the safest place would be under the bed. He hurried to that supposed place of safety, and to his surprise found six other children who were there for the same reasons—all trembling with fear, crying silently, and silently praying for protection. A rifle ball whistled through the cabin window, and that little company was put to flight. Finally, viewing the mob from behind a large tree, Willard saw them enter the shop. They were there only a few minutes; then, apparently satisfied, they rode away. One can hardly imagine the impression that must have been made upon his mind when he again made his way to the shop and found his father dead on the floor, his brother Sardius under the bellows, shot through the head, his brains being fairly blown out, and his brother Alma suffering from a terrible wound in his hip. Brother Willard assisted his mother and Jos. Young in burying the bodies of the men who lost their lives in that brutal massacre. In 1840 Brother Smith learned the stone cutter's trade, and assisted in the construction of the Nauvoo Temple, donating his services. He joined the pioneers in 1846 and started west. He got as far as Council Bluffs when a call was made by the United States government for 500 soldiers from the "Mormons." Is there a drummer boy in the company," said President Young, to which Brother Smith responded, and became practically the first enlisted volunteer.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED IN THE EARLY STAGES.

A Beautiful Girl Saved From Dread Consumption. Other Wonderful Cures.

Miss Mabel A. Bradford, 2520 West 32d Ave., Denver, Colorado, writes:

"For some years back I have been troubled with delicate lungs and when ever I caught a cold, which occurred several times each year, I always feared that the result would be serious. I came to Colorado hoping to improve my health, but the results were not what I had confidently expected. However, what Colorado ozone could not do for me, Peruna did, and in a couple of months I had used eight bottles and found that my lungs were stronger than ever, and my health excellent. I find that Peruna improved the mental as well as the physical health, as I am better natured and of a more happy disposition. Peruna well worthy the highest endorsement."—Miss Mabel Bradford.

Miss Florence E. Kenah, 434 Maria St., Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"A few months ago I caught a severe cold, which settled on my lungs and remained there so persistently that I became alarmed. I took medicine without benefit, until my digestive organs became upset, and my head and back began to ache severely and frequently."

"I was advised to try Peruna, and although I had little faith I felt so sick that I was ready to try anything. It brought me blessed relief at once, and I felt that I had the right medicine at last. Within three weeks I was completely restored and have enjoyed perfect health since."

"I now have the greatest faith in Peruna."—F. E. Kenah.

If you have the slightest symptom of catarrh of the lungs don't wait. Get a bottle of Peruna.

Use it according to directions.

It will remove every trace of catarrhal irritation from the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Catarrh cannot remain where Peruna is used.

No one need fear consumption whose mucous membranes are free from catarrhal inflammation.

Give Peruna a trial.

It does all we claim as the following letters testify.

Catarrh Often Causes Consumption.

One-half the ailing women of United States are suffering from catarrh. They are doctoring for almost any other disease without benefit. A few bottles of Peruna would eradicate all catarrhal inflammation from the system. With clean, healthy mucous membranes health inevitably follows.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

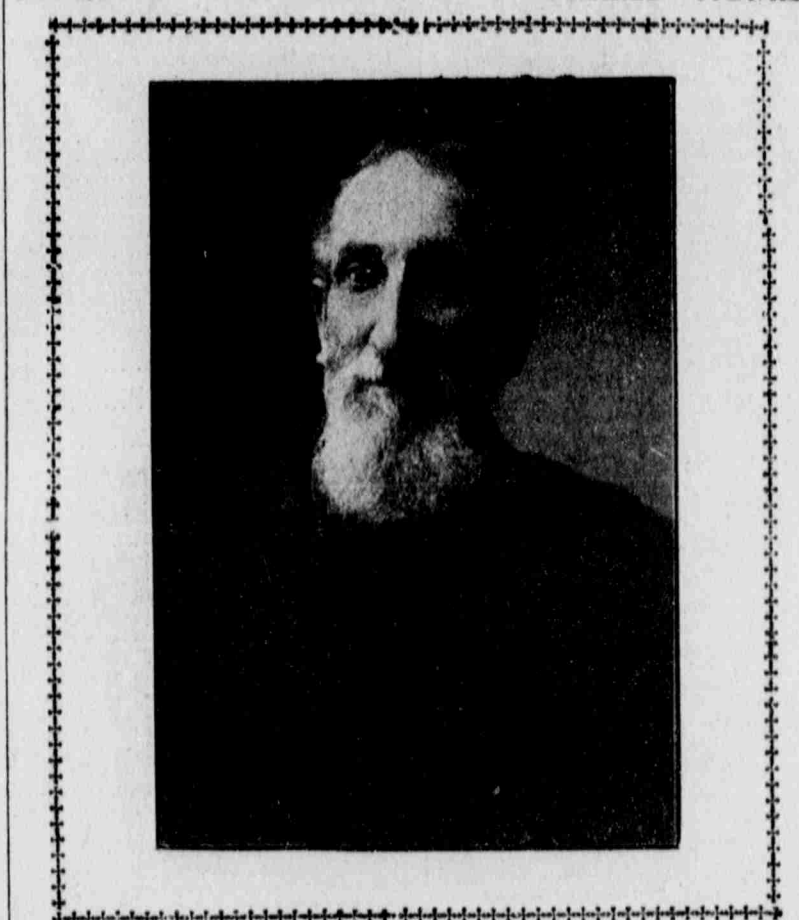

Mrs. Mary E. Holbert, 2501 Clinton avenue, Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"My son suffered for three months with catarrh of the bronchial tubes which threatened to become very serious. The doctors advised that he seek a more favorable climate, but as he had heard of Peruna as a specific for lung trouble he decided to give it a trial before he left his family for an expensive journey among strangers. For six months he used it faithfully and found that the trouble gradually disappeared and the blessed health took its place. In two months he was perfectly well and able to perform his duties. You have indeed a grateful mother's thanks."—Mrs. Mary Holbert.

It is the praise of those who have been cured by Peruna that makes this remedy so popular and so extensively used. No advertisement could have accomplished this result. Peruna cures the first stages of consumption by removing the cause, which is chronic catarrh. Peruna cures the cause in the right way. It cures catarrh of the bronchial tubes, which causes the cough. The catarrh having been cured, the cough ceases. This is the only right way to cure a cough.

MORMON BATTALION BOY CALLED HOME.

WILLARD GILBERT SMITH.

After one week of suffering from a third attack of paralysis, Elder Willard Gilbert Smith died at his home in Logan at 4 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 21. During the entire period of his final illness he was practically free from bodily pain and was perfectly conscious. His parents were about 150 yards away, and in getting in, but Willard was compelled to seek other quarters. He hid himself between two piles of lumber near the shop, but when a dozen or more bullets splintered boards on both sides of him simultaneously, he abandoned the place, making his way to a small frame house which he entered. Being then only eleven years of age, it seemed to him that the safest place would be under the bed. He hurried to that supposed place of safety, and to his surprise found six other children who were there for the same reasons—all trembling with fear, crying silently, and silently praying for protection. A rifle ball whistled through the cabin window, and that little company was put to flight. Finally, viewing the mob from behind a large tree, Willard saw them enter the shop. They were there only a few minutes; then, apparently satisfied, they rode away. One can hardly imagine the impression that must have been made upon his mind when he again made his way to the shop and found his father dead on the floor, his brother Sardius under the bellows, shot through the head, his brains being fairly blown out, and his brother Alma suffering from a terrible wound in his hip. Brother Willard assisted his mother and Jos. Young in burying the bodies of the men who lost their lives in that brutal massacre. In 1840 Brother Smith learned the stone cutter's trade, and assisted in the construction of the Nauvoo Temple, donating his services. He joined the pioneers in 1846 and started west. He got as far as Council Bluffs when a call was made by the United States government for 500 soldiers from the "Mormons." Is there a drummer boy in the company," said President Young, to which Brother Smith responded, and became practically the first enlisted volunteer.

The following incident, which occurred during his service in the army, is worthy of notice. Immediately after reaching Los Angeles, while the battalion stood at rest on Main street, a detected, ragged tramp addressed Captain Levi Hancock in these terms: "I am glad to see you. I have been waiting several days to see you. I am a vagabond! I am in hell, and I have been over since the Haun's Mill tragedy. I shot the brains out of a boy under the blacksmith's bellows. I obeyed the orders of the leader of the mob. Deal with me as you please. Hancock replied: "The brother of that boy is in this company. I will turn you over to him."

When taken before Brother Smith, the stranger said: "I am a vagabond, and with a double barreled shotgun. His pleadings still ring in my ears. I hope you will grant my request. I want to die, and I want you to kill me." His wail was increased when he heard these words: "There is a God in Heaven who will avenge that crime. I will not stain my hands with your blood."

In 1860 Elder Smith was called on a mission to England, where he labored part of the time as president of the Cheltenham conference, until 1863, when he was released.

In March, 1865, he was ordained a Bishop and appointed by President Brigham Young to preside over the settlement of Porterville, Richville, South Morgan, Crockett, and Milton. When Morgan stake was organized, July, 1877, he was selected to act as president of the stake, and held that position until 1886, when he was honorably released. He was the first probate judge of Morgan county, has been elected as representative of Morgan county in the Utah Legislature four times, and served as chaplain one term.

In 1865 he married Cordelia Thurston, twelve children, two boys and ten girls being the result of 150 unions. His wife and nine children survive him, all the children being married but three. He went to Logan with his family about a year ago and purchased a home where he and his wife and children are now residing. He died at his home when his great spirit took its flight.

He was exceptionally kind and modest in disposition, earnest and unwavering in his devotion to principle, wise though firm in counsel, strictly honest in his dealings with God and man, and possessing a personal magnetism that endeared him to the hearts, and commanded the utmost respect of all who knew him. In his passing the light of a noble life has passed from earth. His family will miss his kind, loving, and devoted presence; the Church in the earth will miss his valiant labors in the cause of truth. The state has lost a pioneer and empire builder, and the nation a high-minded and patriotic citizen.

Services were held at Logan Tuesday morning, after which the remains were taken to Morgan, where services were held Wednesday in the county in the presence of a large gathering. President Heimer of Morgan stake having the matter in charge.
